Death of Mrs. Mary Jane Clayton

Mrs. Mary Jane Clayton died Dec. 20 1915 at her daughters Mrs. G. C. Wiggins at Plainview, N. M. Grandma, as she was familiarly called was about 81 years of age, had belonged to the Christian church for about 60 or 65 years, and her nearest relatives and friends say she was a consecrated christian, from the time she professed faith in Christ up to her departure. Just think of it, had lived a christian for 60 odd years and not tired of the way.

The writer held her funeral services in the home where she breathed her last, and it was a solemn occasion, but the entire assembly paid special attention, and seemed in great sympathy, for those who were bereft. No doubt that grandma will be greatly missed, but she no doubt is with God and the angels. If there was no resurrection of the just, it would be sad indeed to give up our loved ones, but when we have a hope of meeting them in heaven it is not quite so bad. So we say farewell grandma, but not forever, for we expect to meet you in heaven. She has several relatives at Plainview, but I am not posted as to who all were related to her. To all who are bereaved on account of the loss of their loved one, I would say let us follow grandma's example in trusting in the true and living God and we will meet her again bye and bye. Wm. R. Crockett.

The Methodist Ladies wish to thank the ones who conferred so many little favors on them during the sale of their Xmas Bazaar, and especially to thank P. S. Eaves & Co. for the liberal offer of his front window for the occasion. A ready sale was obtained for almost every thing and a nice sum was realized from same.
